

Here Are Days Where
The Elusive Winter Sunbeam
Need Not Be Chased.

IF THERE IS an especial Paradise set aside for motorists, it must be this bit of the Dixie Highway along the Halifax River in Florida. Courtesy Florida East Coast R. R.

A MAN WHO can have a private toboggan slide in his back yard ought to be happy. At Rockcliffe Park, Ottawa, Canada. Courtesy Grand Trunk System.

TENNIS AT NASSAU, in the Bahamas, is favored by sunshine and breezes from the turquoise sea. Courtesy Ward Steamship Line.

THE FISHERMAN can always find a cool nook at lunch time on the West Coast of Florida.

A STEAMSHIP to Porto Rico will put before you this eye-filling view of the governor's palace and part of the city of San Juan, seen from Casa Blanca. Courtesy New York & Porto Rico S. S. Co.

IN ST. PAUL, at winter carnival time, one may see a member of the queen's retinue taking the bracing air thus. Courtesy Great Northern Ry.

When the cabaret princess warbles of "Georgia Among the Pines" this golfing vista at Augusta ought to call for a high note. Courtesy Southern Railway.